Shanghai Customs releases 2025 Special Action Measures to Promote Cross-border Trade Facilitation

(Source from The Paper News)

Shanghai Customs recently issued the 2025 Special Action Measures to Promote Cross-border Trade Facilitation. The measures consist of 33 initiatives across five key areas: further ensuring the facilitation of customs clearance for key goods; improving the quality and efficiency of cross-border logistics; optimizing regulatory processes to better match business models; advancing interconnectivity between customs, local authorities, and enterprises; and enhancing precision and depth in services for enterprises. Shanghai Customs has carried out special actions to promote cross-border trade facilitation for eight consecutive years, with a continued focus on building a secure, convenient, and efficient business environment at ports.

Shanghai ranks First Nationwide in Tax Refunds for Departing Visitors

According to the Shanghai Municipal Tax Service, since the implementation of the Notice on Further Optimizing the Tax Refund Policy for Departing Visitors to Boost Inbound Consumption in Shanghai one month ago, sales eligible for departure tax refunds have increased by 86% year-on-year, while the amount of tax refunded has risen by 77%, placing Shanghai first nationwide in terms of tax refund volume. The "immediate tax refund upon purchase" model has simplified the refund process and lowered the shopping threshold for overseas tourists, further enhancing their shopping experience. The policy has yielded positive effects and further reinforced Shanghai's appeal as a global shopping destination.
